THE 5th DIMENSION

The applause was deafening as the capacity audience responded to the concert presented by "The Fifth Dimension," Tuesday night, March 13, 1973. Some of the favorites included in the show were "Up, Up and Away," "One Less Bell to Answer," and "Aquarius."

Along with their vocal ability, the group also demonstrated their dancing and dramatic talents and even insisted on giving lessons to members of the audience. Reluctant to let the performers go, the appreciative audience gave them a long-standing ovation.

The Baptist College Student Government Association made over 5,000 people happy by bringing "The Fifth Dimension" to Charleston.

THE NITTY GRITTY DIRT BAND

The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band entertained Baptist College students with outrageous costumes, hilarious humor, and outstanding musical ability. With a repertoire of songs ranging from "Foggy Mountain Breakdown" to contemporary music, they climaxed their show with their present hits.

When asked about their goals in music, they responded, "We all just really want to play good music for people who like to be entertained."

AMERICA

Easy and sure vocals tightly surrounded by a blend of guitars has become identifiable with one group—America. This rock group proved its versatility Tuesday night, February 27, 1973, at the Charleston Municipal Auditorium sponsored by the BCC Student Government Association.

The concert which started out on somewhat of a slow and easy note with acoustical and what its members called "love music" ended with electric guitars pounding out hard rock and roll to the apparent delight of the audience.

Lester Flatt Brings Bluegrass Sound to BCC

Friday night, September 7, in the college gym, BCC students enjoyed "bluegrass" music from one of the really great showmen in Country Music, "Lester Flatt and the Nashville Grass". Instrumentally, the group featured the mandolin, dobro guitar, fiddle, and five string bass with accompaniment on the rhythm guitar and stringbass. Overalls and T-shirts seemed to be the suitable attire for the occasion which was a "knee-pattin', foot-stomping" experience in response to such well known favorites as the theme of "The Beverly Hillbillies" television program.

Lester Flatt displays a remarkable ability to draw crowds wherever he performs. The group presents a fast-paced program of clean, wholesome family entertainment.

Roberta Flack

When Roberta Flack stepped on-stage at the Municipal Auditorium in early October, no one in the audience realized that only 30 minutes before curtain time there was grave doubt as to whether or not she'd be able to perform.

Three doctors examined her as she debated whether or not to do the show. Finally, she decided to go ahead. When she stepped onto the stage, sore throat and all, the capacity crowd of nearly 3,000 roared a tremendous welcome.

This is one Baptist College sponsored concert, by one of the great female vocalists of the age, that will not soon be forgotten by BCC students and the hundreds of others who attended.

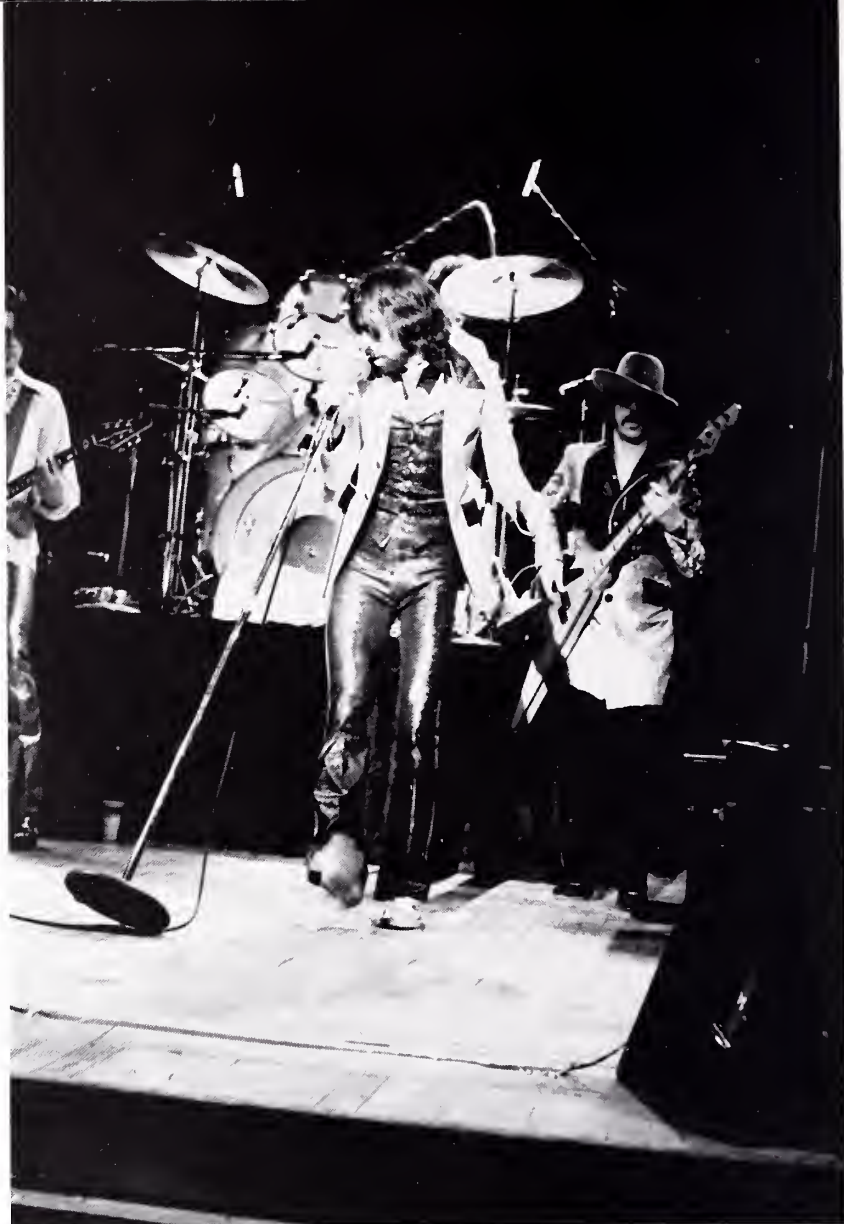

Harry Chapin

Harry Chapin introduced truly great talent to the BCC campus on November 15 in the P.E. building. Combining top 40 sounds with folk-rock, he captivates his audience. Chapin writes most of the compositions he performs. He is better described as writer of life rather than a writer of songs. His music touches all of those who hear it.

J. Giles Band

The J. Giles Band performed in concert at the Charleston Municipal Auditorium Thursday, December 6, 1973. The auditorium was packed with fans freaking out to the hard rock sound. It was presented in a loose and informal manner which made it easier for frequent audience participation.

Old Dogs New Tricks

After the basketball game Thursday night, January 17, 1974, a dance was held in the gym. The music was provided by "Old Dogs New Tricks", a band from Columbia.

Judy Yost Crowned May Queen For Spring '73

Rosemary Myers, Lucy Ann Mason, Jan Utsey, Lynne Ankersen, Julie Embler, Debbie Litchfield, Mary Jo McEachern, Judy Yost, Gail Marion, Linda Price, Debbie Hamilton, Judy Duncan, Lou Ann McNeill, Beverly Cook.

SKA honored the court by performing the traditional May Day dance around the May Pole.

Along with Greek Day and Junior-Senior, spring celebrations include May Day Festivities. Last spring, 1973, the theme for the May Day Activities was "Windmills of Your Mind", and a song by this same title was sung by Warren Peper who acted as Master of Ceremonies. Several girls from each class, chosen by the students made up the May Court with Judy Yost and Gail Marion holding the titles of May Queen and attendant.

Greek Day is Φun and Φast

With the recognition of Greek letters came the initiation of Greek Day. Competition between fraternities was extremely close with N.K.A. edging out P.B.A. by one point. The sororities found Z.K. the winner with S.K.A. placing second. A small beginning promises future successes.

What a Way to Begin College Life

Parents lend a hand as freshmen start the chore of getting settled in a new environment. Confusion and excitement usher in the next four years which will be filled with much of the same.

RAT WEEK

Ratting begins with the wearing of the traditional blue and gold Baptist College rat hats. This enables upperclassmen to recognize and help the new students, who are ever mindful of their extremely low position in Baptist College life. Next, the students take off on a boat tour of the Charleston harbor, where they meet other freshmen and have a chance to share common worries. The President's Reception, planned to acquaint students and faculty, took place in the Gold Room. Ratting was climaxed this year with the Lester Flatt concert, after which the rats began to "live" again.

Rat night, the unauthorized part of ratting, freshmen encountered water fights, door slammings, tricks, and even some slight injuries, proving, once again, that ratting is just one of the many joys at BCC.

Careful Planning Improves Convocation

Though BCC students go their separate ways for 167 hours of the week, they all come together one hour every Wednesday for convocation in the college gym. The purpose for this meeting is to keep students informed of the events of the following week. With the help of a student convocation committee, a speaker or some type of dramatic or musical entertainment is provided for each program.

Convocation bulletins are distributed to each student containing an outline of the program and the weeks activities.

Art Beasley and Sandy Coggin try to beat the mad rush to the dining hall after convocation.

Steve Rogers answers questions of student Howard Hodges after his inspiring testimony.

One of the convocation speakers was Cecil Day, the owner and founder of America's fastest growing motel-hotel chain, Day's Inns.

Students relax while waiting for the convocation program to begin.

Paul Harvey comes to BCC to help raise funds for new chapel.

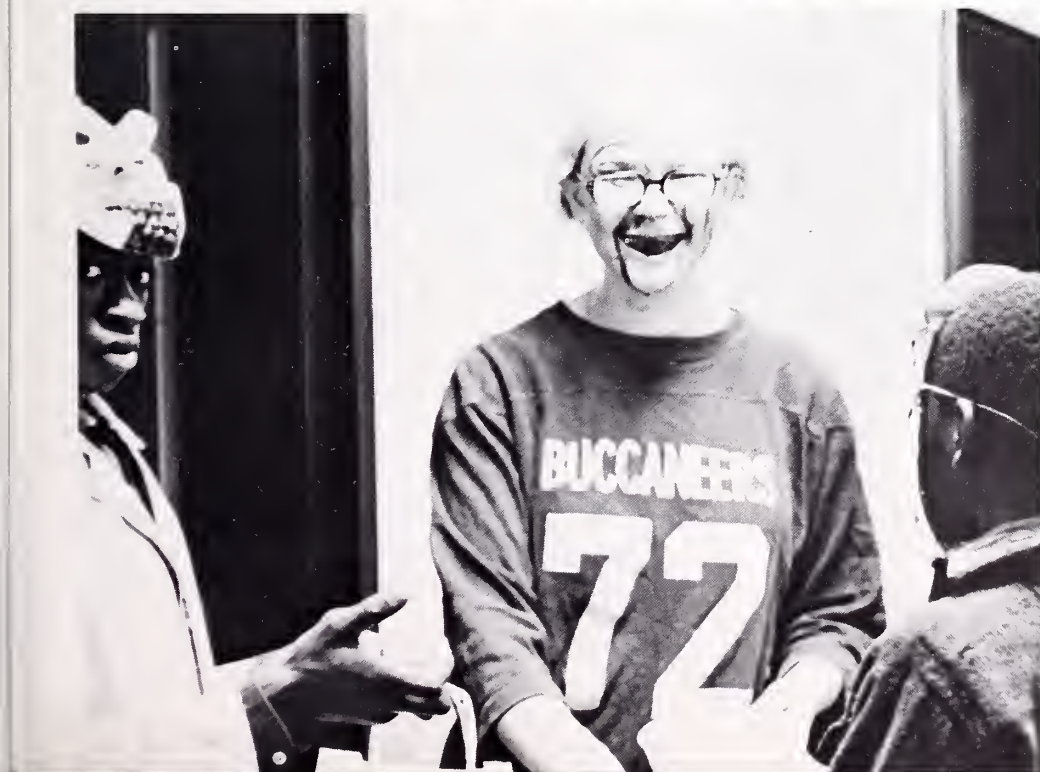

The dining hall was filled to capacity for the Paul Harvey dinner. The occasion was to raise funds for the building of the new chapel. The former Governor and Mrs. McNair were among the honored guests. The Baptist College choir provided the entertainment for the evening.

TRICK-OR-TREATERS VISIT BCC.

Halloween night was filled with activities at Baptist College. The Student Government Association sponsored a fun night for two local orphanages. They were provided with Halloween masks and money for the Carnival in the Cafeteria. They also came into the dorms to "trick-or-treat" and left with bags full of candy and treats.

The Halloween Carnival was held in the Cafeteria. Many of the clubs had booths with activities such as a cake walk, fishing, sponge throwing, and a kissing booth. A large crowd of students participated in the activities of the night.

Phi Beta Alpha Hosts Miss Baptist College

"Beauties of the Orient" was the theme of this year's pageant sponsored by Phi Beta Alpha social club. The weeks of preparation were evident in the quality of the program. The contestants selected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes were introduced in sportswear. Then with the second phase of competition the girls displayed their talents, ending up in evening gowns as the third phase. This year's Master of Ceremonies, Warren Peper, tied the pageant together with his easy rapport with the audience.

Miss Julie Embler was voted Miss Congeniality.

Entertainment was provided by an extremely talented group of students who are called the "Kerosene Lamp Orchestra."

Susan Wholers captivated the audience as she displayed her vocal ability with "Didn't We".

Between phases of competition, Warren Peper entertains the audience with a pantomime.

Buddy Locke, Connie Whittle, Robbie Huckaby, Beth Yarborough, Linda Cleland, Kathy Borom, Bunny and Sam Isgett talk about past Christmases at BCC.

The President's Reception opens the Holiday Season.

The refreshments are one of the main attractions.

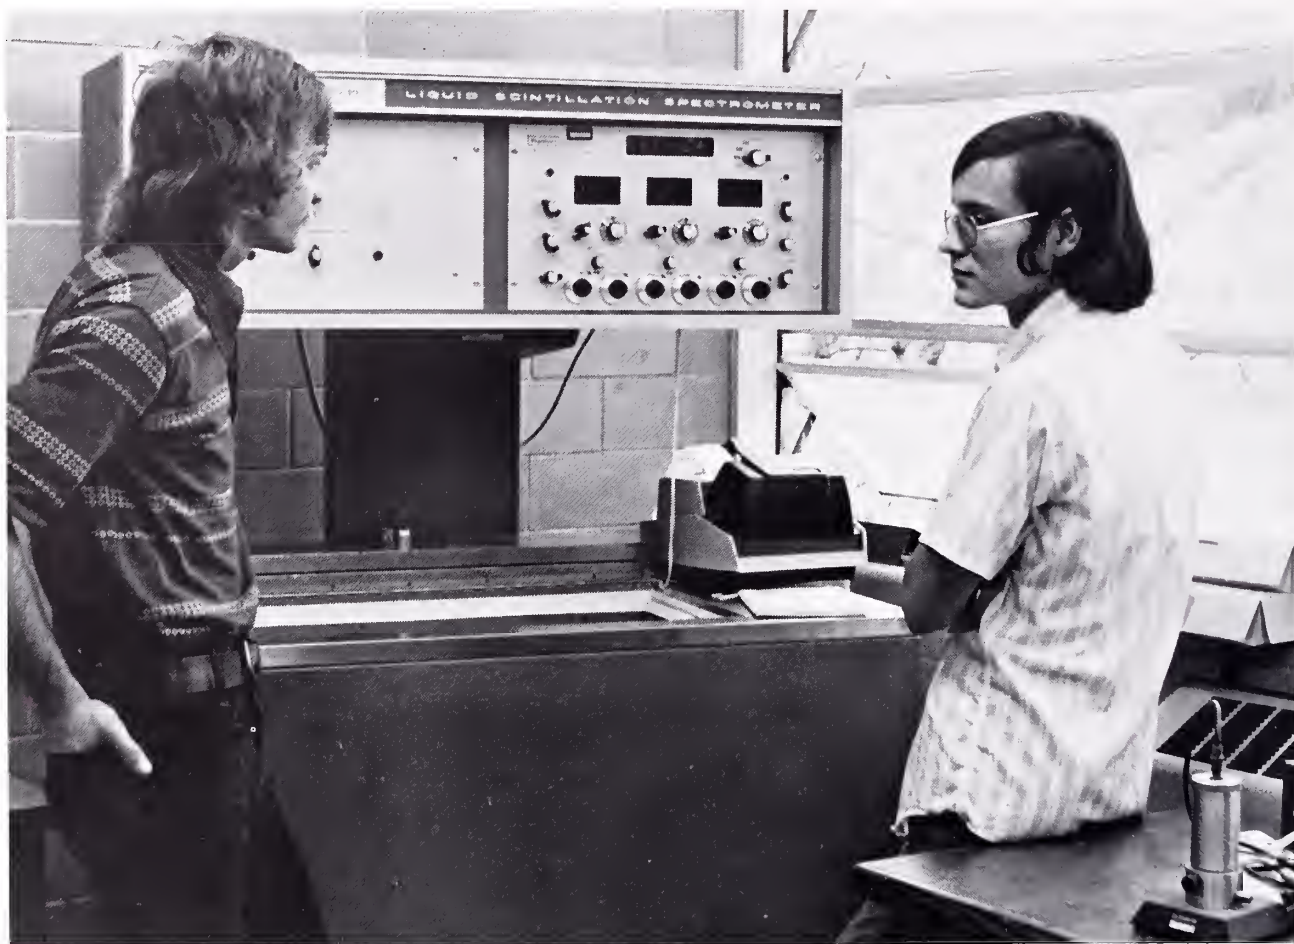

The last few days before the semester break are busy ones. Though exams are coming up, students find time to join in the holiday festivities.

Decorating the dorms and having parties fill the last days of school before Christmas vacation.

Interterm serves as a break be- tween semesters.

Between the fall and spring semesters, BCC offers a break in the regular session by providing interterm, a free addition to the fall semester that the student may or may not attend. The aim of interterm is to focus on specialized study in the field of one's choice.

Bobby Jones, Bonnie Hatcher, George Timms, and Dr. Reitzer excavate the foundation of the original Izard Plantation house of which the BCC campus is now a part.

Dr. Barrier assists Jan Utsey with one of her taxidermy projects.

The Nuclear Chemistry Interterm class tours Duke Power Plant.

TKA and ZK entertain the cafeteria crowd prior to the Homecoming basketball game. The cheerleaders and BSU also brought laughter to the crowd with their skits.

Zanziea Kinloch represents BCC as Miss March of Dimes; Marie Snipes, representing the Afro American Society, is crowned by last year's queen, Cheryl Bowman.

This year's Homecoming was more eventful than those in the past at Baptist College. A parade with each club entering a float was planned for Saturday, but, as is typical of Charleston weather, was rained out. The rain continued most of the day causing cancellation of the bonfire as well. The entertainment did go on, however.

Added events for Homecoming spur student interest.

The band Homecoming night out-did themselves as these BCC students jive to the music.

Skits by various clubs were performed in the cafeteria and the night continued on with the basketball game. An outstanding performance by the team produced a victory over Lander College. The night then was climaxed by a dance in the gym. The enthusiasm was definitely improved and maybe the following years can be just as eventful with the help of all.

SGA Sponsors Homecoming

The student Government Association is made up of students and exists for the students. The Executive Council is an important branch of this association. Consisting of the four SGA officers, this council is functioning to improve the services extended to students.

Robbie Huckaby, Vice-President; Fred Turner, President; Doug Parker, Treasurer; and Beth Yarborough, Secretary.

President's Cabinet

The President's Cabinet consists of the various committee chairmen and four class presidents. These students plan and present extra-curricular activities including elections, concerts, and campus entertainment.

Kenneth Gordon, Beth Yarborough, Billy Johnson, Jerry Brazell, Freddie Rudder, Connie Whittle, Susan Myers, John Lawrence, Don Brandon, and Fred Turner.

Robbie Huckaby presides at a weekly Senate meeting as Beth Yarborough writes the minutes.

STUDENT SENATE IS THE VITAL LINK.

As one of the most powerful organizations on campus, the Student Senate works as the vital link between the students and their Student Government Association. Through the elected senators, BCC students have a voice in campus activities and government that can, and should be, heard.

Through committees under the Presidents cabinet, BCC students are offered religious inspiration and leadership, and entertainment through campus activities and concerts. Because of the cabinet member's work, BCC is becoming a better place to live and learn.

Editorial Responsibilities Divided

The duties of editor were divided this year between co-editors Sally Brenneman and Susan Drafts. Meeting deadlines and coordinating the activities of the staff, the co-editors shared the responsibilities and work involved in publishing the '74 Cutlass.

The co-editors began work on the Cutlass by attending a Publication Workshop at Camp Kanuga in Hendersonville, North Carolina in June. The valuable information they received was related to the Cutlass staff and incorporated into their activities.

Section Editors Keep Deadlines

Sleeping in the annual trailer, two televisions on different channels, the radio blaring, Warren and Larry swapping jokes, Judy pausing from her typing to laugh and Jimmy wearing out a pair of shoes pushing ads, this was the life of the section editors this year.

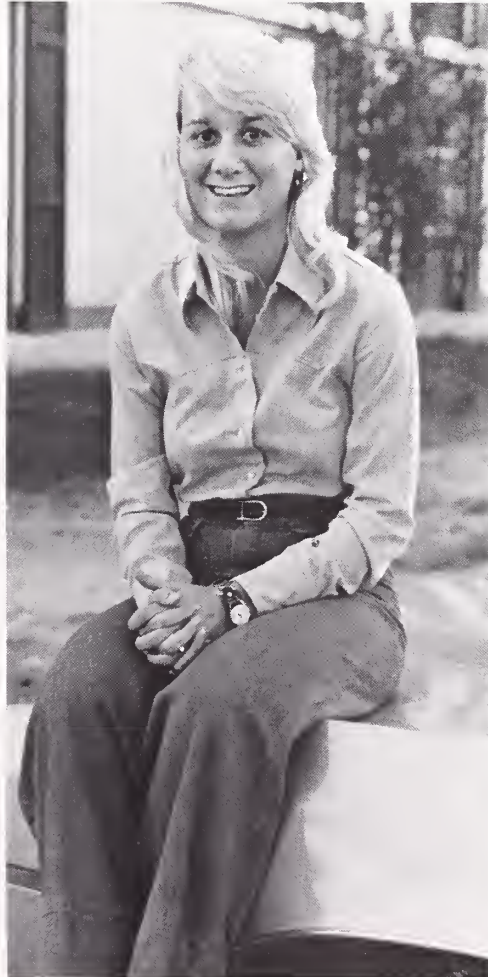

Cooperation and sharing between section leaders set the mood for the task of putting the Cutlass together. From amateurs to pros in a few short months, the experience of creating the '74 Cutlass was a gratifying and rewarding experience to cherish.

NATIONAL FINALS

As evidenced by these desolate action shots of our cross country team running against Pembroke State, one can easily see that this is not one of our greatest spectator sports. True, not many people witnessed the Bucs in their endeavors, but it was not because there was nothing to see. In reality, the team was quite successful in the fall of 1973. In dual competition the Buc harriers were undefeated. Coach Settle's Bucs ran away with the NAIA regional title. The team boasted three All-State performers, Andy Atwell, Doug Parker, and Don Waters, by virtue of their performances in the State meet. In spite of these efforts, the Bucs still suffered a disappointing one point loss at the hands, or should we say the feet, of the Furman Paladin distance runners. The role of the distance man is quite lonely. Not only must he defeat the other man, he must also conquer the land.

Standing: Jack Dixon, Andy Jackson, Ken Layne, Matt Morrow, and Doug Parker. Kneeling: David Miller, Andy Atwell, Dave Hasse, and Don Waters.

Last Spring, the Baptist College track team captured a third place finish in the NAIA national finals. This national meet was held in Arkadelphia, Arkansas. Even though the third place title was a team effort, there were six individual members of the team who were especially instrumental in bringing to the attention of on-lookers the power of Baptist College. These six men were James Bryan, Jack Jackson, Wallace Johnson, Tom Reid, Steven Towles, and Steve Whitney. Bryan, Jackson, Johnson, and Reid combined for a successful 440 relay team. Tom Reid was the individual winner of the 220 yard dash. Whitney and Towles placed second and third in the pole vault. Fortunately, all six of these men will be back on this year's team to provide a sound nucleus. All of these men broke standing school records and should provide helpful leadership.

Seniors: Sam Isgett, John McKee, Jim Ruppert

The Baptist College golf team promises to potentially be the best ever. With the addition of promising freshmen and the return of six seasoned upperclassmen, this jovial group of golfers embark on their toughest schedule since the inception of the team. Such teams as the University of Ohio, Colgate, and the University of Massachusetts should prove to be formidable opponents. In addition to these big names, the Buc golfers will march the fairways with their District Six opponents. The most important match will take place on April 21-23. At this time, they will travel to Furman in order to compete for the District Six championship.

Coaches Jim Settle and Howard Bagwell

Last year's track team accomplished many outstanding achievements. Naturally, just equalling last year's achievements will be quite an accomplishment. But believe it or not, this year's team had potential to equal those achievements and possibly surpass those marks. The reasons behind these high hopes are found in the experience and skills of the veterans coupled with the new talented freshmen should more than compensate the departed graduates' absence.

Cheerleaders and Usherettes Boost School Spirit

Mary Ann Westover, Julie Embler, Pagi Smith, Jan Utsey, Marilee Dzur, Jan Pruitt

The position of a cheerleader is becoming a more prominent position with each new year. No longer do girls wanting to be cheerleaders merely show up for the tryouts. Competition is tough and many girls attended the tryouts. A group of judges carefully and ably selected these six girls to comprise the cheerleader squad for the '73-'74 athletic year.

The usherettes provide a new hospitable approach to our basketball games and track meets. These girls will serve as hostesses at these athletic events.

CENTURY CLUB MEMBERS ONLY

Usherettes: Vivian Owens, Judy Duncan, Judy Hembree, Becky Truitt, Marcia Finley, Rita Mantooth.

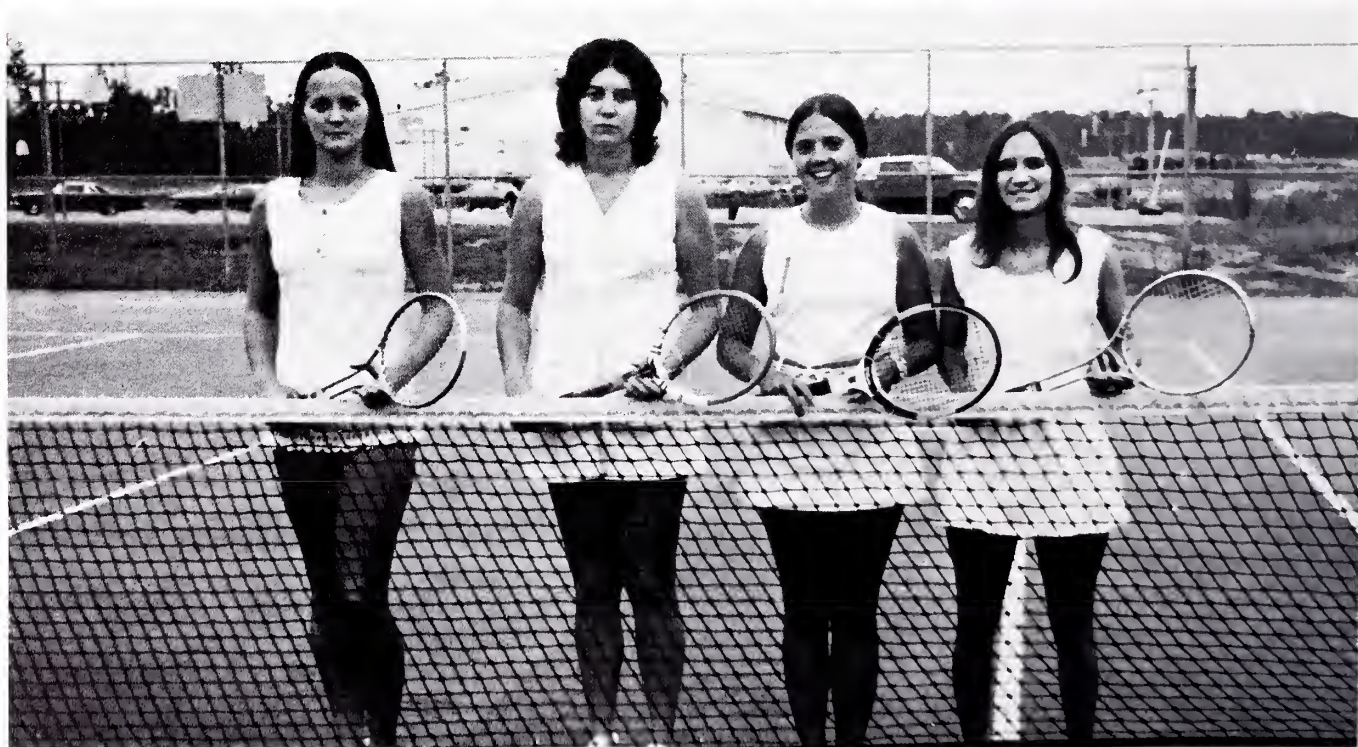

While the girls await their respective turns, the judges carefully evaluate each contestant.

Girls team: Rita Mantooth, Kay Bayne, Suzette Capitano, and Barbie Smith.

Barbie Smith displays her forehand.

The girls tennis team was initiated this year under the capable leadership of Coach Halans. The squad is reasonably small at this stage, but there is a good nucleus from which surely will come some good teams.

The 1973 intramural football season was exciting. The six teams which participated were the Independents, NKA, PBA, Soul Patrol, Studs, and TKA. The competition was tough and most of the teams were pretty evenly matched. A strong TKA team was upset in the last game by a fired-up NKA team which became the champion. The Studs proved to be very tough defensively but could never get their offensive game into high gear. The Soul Patrol started out very slowly but really came on at the end of the season and repaid some of the teams for earlier defeats. TKA really proved how tough our intramural program was by soundly defeating a College of Charleston team in a Sunday afternoon benefit game at Stoney Field.

Jerome Jay, the Studs quarterback, gets his pass off just in time to avoid being thrown for a loss by TKA's Buddy Brooks.

Neither rain, nor hail, nor sleet could prevent teams from practicing or from simply having a good time.

The blocking up front was always rough. Every evening bruised arms and elbows along with painful thighs were gingerly mended in anticipation of the next game.

Buccaneers Face Most Ambitious Schedule Ever

The 1973-74 Bucs played a rough twenty-seven game schedule. Twelve of the games were against District Six opponents. The remaining fifteen games were against such established powerhouses as South Alabama, Furman, Old Dominion, Pan American, and Navy to name just a few.

The Bucs held their own against District Six competition, but needless to say, they suffered defeat at the hands of bigger, classier teams. The Bucs did manage a third place finish in the Brigadier-Palmetto Classic by virtue of their resounding victory over Lehigh University in the consolation game.

Robert Thomas suffered a severe knee injury in the fourth game of the season. Last year's leading scorer was lost for the remainder of the year and had to be content with giving his moral support to his other teammates.

Buccaneers strive to Overcome Problems

The 73-74 squad is introduced to an appreciative convocation audience.

The 73-74 team seemed to experience one problem after another. The opening day of practice was probably indicative of the season that followed. On that first day, Jimmy Howell, a transfer student, suffered a broken jaw and Senior guard Warren Peper experienced a broken rib in a collision between the two small players. Two days later, Henry Finch, a 6-8 center prospect, dislocated his knee and was lost for the season.

These were the tangible problems. Other problems developed. A few weeks later, Nike White and Paul Dorman were lost from the team. Both of these men were key players on last year's squad and were sorely missed.

Things seemed to settle down then and the team began to jell. But as fate would have it, another problem cropped up. Robert Thomas, the leading scorer and rebounder at that time, injured his knee in the fourth game and was lost for the remainder of the season.

Although plagued with bad luck, the team continued to hustle and work hard in the Baptist College tradition.

Hustling guard Warren Peper dives on the floor in pursuit of the ball.

The home crowds were very appreciative of the Bucs' efforts and they let'em know it.

Coach Henry and Doc Welty observe the action taking place on the court.

Art Beasley drives in for a lay-up against Presbyterian.

Buccanettes Enjoy Winning Year

Arlene Joyner drives through and over her opponents.

Kay Bayne arches ball over the outstretched arms of opposing players.

Buccanettes start off on the right foot by winning the opening tap.

Girls listen intently as Coach Halans issues some timely pointers during a break in the action.

Anita Green arches her free throw toward the basket.

The 73-74 girls' squad like the boys' team, was also under the direction of a new coach, Mrs. Virginia Halans. Under her capable guidance the Buccanettes enjoyed a very successful year. The new players blended well with the returning ones and an exciting brand of girls basketball was displayed. The students readily recognized this and good crowds resulted.

Bucs Hit and Run to New Year

Seniors: Roger Nielsen, Larry Cobb, Steve Quinn, with Coach Bustle

The 1973 Bucs lost five key players, which will be sorely missed. Most of the loss will be felt in the hitting department, but Bustle and the Bucs are confident they will make the playoffs for the second straight year. Last year's team posted an overall 14-9-1 record with a District Six record of 10-3. Even though some outstanding hitters were lost to graduation, the defensive prowess of the Bucs will remain strongly intact. With strong pitching and good, sound defense, the Buc bats will surely bang balls beyond belief.

Board of Trustees

Optimism and initiative was evidenced at Trustee Meetings. These experienced individuals, in a time when private colleges are experiencing financial difficulties and even closing down, have maintained Baptist College's status as a thriving growing institution. The board of Trustees voted to expand the facilities at Baptist College and to begin construction of the Chapel-Fine Arts Building.

Higher Standards Achieved by VP's

The complex operation of a college is a twenty-four hour job. The Baptist College is fortunate to have vice-presidents capable and willing to undertake the successful performance of our college. Beautifying the campus, paying salaries, enlarging facilities, supplying Thursday night movies or making additions to the curriculum are only a sampling of the daily decisions the vice-presidents face.

Able Assistants Receive Praise

The everyday job of running the offices of Development falls to the assistants of the Vice-President of Development. They make the job of the Vice-President more enjoyable and less strenuous. Their adept handling of tedious work deserves the praise of all.

Creativity Through Art

The Art Department has been actively developing the artistic talents of Baptist College students.

With the addition of a sculpture class and commercial art offered during Interterm, the Art Department offers a well rounded study in the field of artistic endeavors.

Chairman of the department, Joseph M. Ward, feels that art is much a part of our environment, and thru art we can beautify our environment.

Philosophy . . . Development of Aesthetic Values

The ability to reason and the evaluation of reasoning are the fortes of the study of Philosophy.

The Philosophy Department presents a varied selection of philosophical studies to motivate and encourage original thought in the students at Baptist College.

Dr. John A. Barry, Vice-President of Academic Affairs, is also Chairman of the Philosophy Department. Although his schedule is very crowded, he still finds time to make Philosophy a stimulating experience.

English Department Revamps Journalism

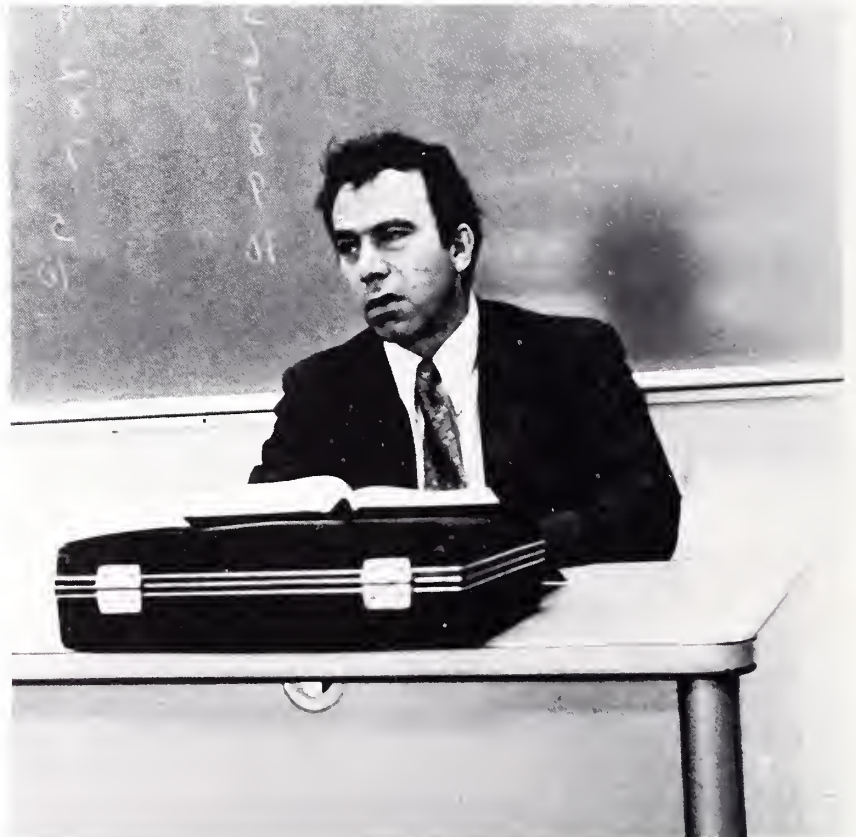

While English majors and minors continued to study the great writers of literature, the contrasting periods of literature, and fundamentals of grammar, the English Department innovated a new concept into the classroom activities of Journalism. This class, under the direction of Mr. J. Douglas Donehue, has aspired to produce the campus's three publications under the direction of the editors and Mr. Donehue. Students in the classroom provided material for publication plus working hours in typing and layout. Through this system, the members of the department hope that publications will be more student oriented and susceptible to being produced more efficiently.

Foreign Language Dept. Introduces Other Countries to BCC Students

Growth and enjoyment describe the Foreign Language Department. It strives to offer more than just a language; its objectives are to open the doors to a different culture and to broaden the horizons of opportunity for its students.

Foreign language majors will now have the opportunity to major in one language and increase the number of hours in a second language as in a minor subject. This will enable a student to have two languages at his disposal, thus increasing his teaching opportunities.

The language lab has become a "working lab" with a "professional" advisor to help those who have a language problem. Dr. James Herring, Department Chairman, believes that being able to speak another's language helps a person understand him and live harmoniously with him.

During Interterm, language students have the opportunity to tour overseas. The students who participate find themselves living the life, enjoying the people, the art, the music, and the theatre in a culture that before had been only a picture.

Music Dept. Gains Associate Membership in the N.A.S.M.

The big news from the Music Department this year was the announcement that the department's application for Associate Membership in the National Association of Schools of Music had been approved at the November meeting of N.A.S.M. in Denver, Colorado. This will mean a great deal toward the development of our Music Department, and in our efforts to recruit better students. This membership will also enable the Music Department to be on a more competitive basis with other colleges in our state, as well as other states.

The Music Department has a new and more progressive type of curriculum, the main feature of which is a single integrated course in music history, literature and materials.

Students in the new program in Music Therapy had an exciting and informative experience when they attended the annual meeting of the National Association for Music Therapy in November at the University of Ga. BCC enjoys the distinction of being the only college in our state which offers a music therapy program, which has been approved by the NAMT.

Dr. Cuttino's Interterm project, in which students visited some of the islands off the coast of the Charleston area to record and study the religious and folk music of the inhabitants of these rather remote areas was repeated this year. The second annual high school choral concert, in conjunction with the BCC chorus and Band, was well-received by the public November 19th in the P.E. building.

The BCC bands have continued to grow in numbers and quality, the Stage Band having been enthusiastically received at one of the convocation programs and in providing music for the Miss BCC pageant. The Concert Band presented its annual December concert in the Strom Thurmond Student Center, featuring Sounds of the Seasons.

Chapel Plans In Near Future

The Department of Religion, headed by Dr. J. Walter Carpenter, seeks to have completed the School of Religion and Biblical Studies by the Fall of 1974. The school of Religion will hold classes mainly for people who are interested in full time Christian service. The chapel will seat 1,200. This building will be an intricate part of college life as it will accomodate the Drama and Arts Departments with creative art displays and recitals, as well as worship services. It will also be available to the student for personal prayer or group Christian activities. The College is to be complimented for this near accomplishment. The Baptist College at Charleston in the eyes of many will then be completed.

Students Gain Confidence from Speech Class

To create an understanding of and proficiency in the use of oral communication, to instill in participants and spectators an appreciation of forensic and dramatic endeavors, to aid in the habilitation and rehabilitation of persons suffering from disorders of communication is the purpose of the Speech Department.

Under the guidance of Dr. Lawrence Vanella, Chairman of the Speech Department, these goals have become a reality.

Biology Reveals Life's Mysteries

Understanding the life processes is the aim of the Biology Dept.

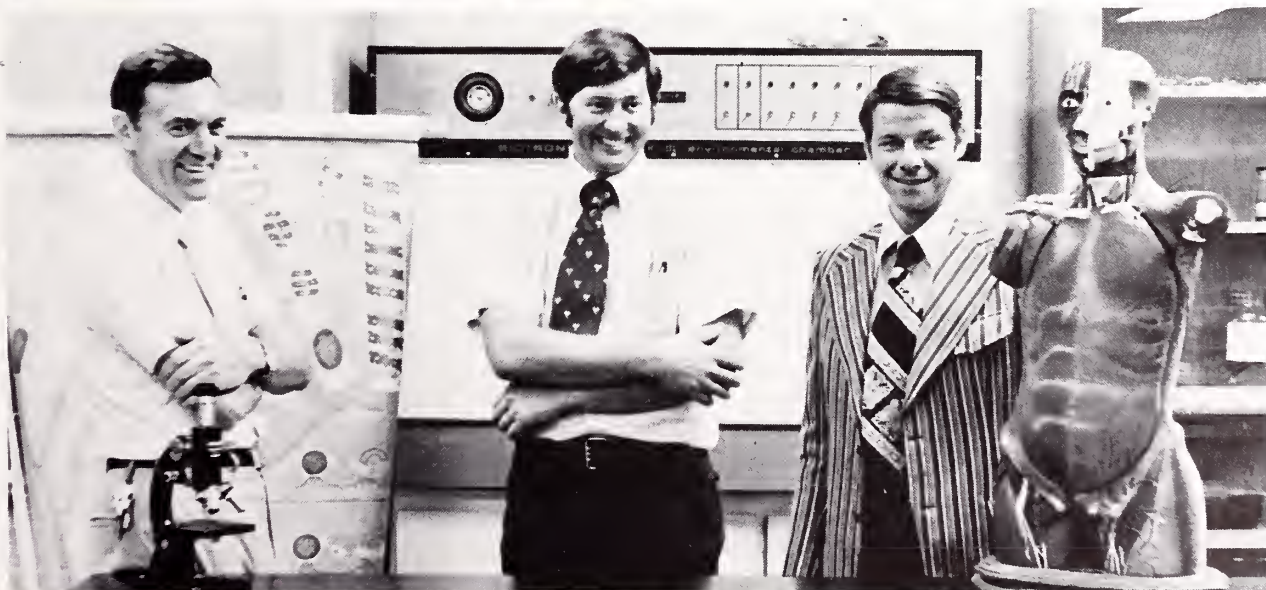

Dr. James Barrier, Chairman of the Biology Dept., realizes this aim through courses in Vertebrate Natural History, Ecology, Cell Physiology, Microbiology, and the ever popular Biology 100.

During Interterm, the Taxidermy class proved to be so popular that it was expanded and Mr. Stephen Best as well as Dr. Barrier taught it.

Physics Solves Tomorrow's Problems Today

Physics, the science of the Twentieth Century, forges ahead ir to tomorrow's world. Solid State Electronics, Fournier Wave Analyzer, and Nuclear Energy are just a few of the fields that Physics encompasses. Dr. Robert L. Carroll, Chairman of the Physics Department, feels that thru the study of nuclear energy, the oil crises of today can be bypassed. He has also written a book entitled Problems in Number Theory.

Professionalism Established In Nurses Training

The Nursing Program continues to produce the finest in nurses training. Classroom work is complemented with on the job training at the hospitals in the Charleston area to give students a full spectrum of nursing.

A three-tiered learning theory has been initiated with the addition of an audio-visual aid permitting the nursing students to work at their own speed.

To aid in the transition from academic training to practical experience, a nursing seminar was instituted. The objectives of the seminar are to teach team nursing, complexities of nursing in a changing society, and opportunities in terms of employment and salaries.

Psychology Studies the Minds of BCC

The Psychology Department at BCC is vigorously helping students become aware of and understand the behavior of man. Some people ignore humane differences thinking they will solve themselves. The Psychology Department takes a scientific approach to man's behavior. Some understanding of yourself and the people around you requires a direct look at man in his society.

Psychology can be rewarding as well as interesting. Some Psychology students find satisfaction in working with mentally retarded children at the Ladson Coastal Center.

Dr. Aline Mahan, Chairman of the Department, helps Cathi Wimberly on her project.

Business Dept. Opens Doors to New Fields

The Business Department at the Baptist College is the largest department in the school. It also has one of the broadest curricula offered of all other liberal arts colleges in the state. The Hotel-Motel Management major, with its Hilton Head Island on the job study program, and the Computer Science major are just two of the varied modern majors offered at the Baptist College.

Education Dept.— New Personnel

The Department of Education at Baptist College is growing to meet the increasing demand for more prepared teachers have greatly increased in number, which means specialization in the areas of counseling, special education, music and physical education on the elementary level.

The curriculum committee recently approved guidance counseling for a major in the education department. It allows one to be certified in counseling with a Bachelor's Degree.

Two new professors were added to the department, Dr. Carole Browning and Mrs. Carol Fleres.

With these changes and improvements, the education department of Baptist College has taken a big step forward in meeting the needs of our communities for better trained and specialized teachers.

A Healthy Body Is Essential for A Healthy Mind.

In keeping with the times, the Physical Education and Health Department has added new curriculum and personnel.

The department offered a new concept in physical education, a karate class. The class was so popular the department added a self defense course for women.

Another new course was the instruction of physical education for the exceptional child, and students found this course to be a very rewarding experience. Half of the class time was devoted to actual work with exceptional children at the Rehabilitation Center at Ladson.

During Interterm, the P.E. Department offered a course in the evaluation of basketball programs in the Charleston area and a week long camping trip to Florida.

History Department Expands to Include Law Enforcement Education Program

The History Department has expanded this year to include a two year law enforcement education program. This addition will make the History Department more attuned to our changing world.

With five full time and three part-time members, the department is able to offer a full spectrum of history studies.

Mrs. Linda Gooding.

Dr. Ella Levett.

Library Keeps In Step With BCC Growth

The Mendel L. Rivers Library is building one of the finest libraries in the state. The basic source of information, books, is supplemented by audio-visual aids, periodicals, and papers on various subjects. The South Carolina Room, collections and the numerous exhibits on display in the lobby provide students a showcase of fascinating subjects. Whether studying, doing research, or just reading the latest copy of "Sports Illustrated," the library is an essential part of Baptist College.

Miss Thelma Elkins, Chairman of the Dept.; Mrs. Doris Storm, Mrs. Tyler.

Roberta White checks out books for students.

Sally Franz, Donna Boone, Carolyn Herring, Regina Carter, Ruth Miller.

Debbie Masongale, Fran Rawlinson, Enid Causey, Connie Jones.

A student makes use of the new copy machine.

Betty Nemeth, Merle Doran, Mrs. Holleman.

Problems of Our Society Are Defined In Sociology

Defining the problems of society is the initial step in remedying the problems of society. Through the varied studies in sociology, the student becomes aware of all aspects of society and the problems that are created by social interaction.

Both students and faculty in the Sociology Department are not only studying the principles of sociology but are putting these principles into action on campus and in the community. Volunteer work has become commonplace with most sociology students.

Mrs. Kathryn Sharpe, Chairman of the Dept.

Dr. Michael G. Horton.

Mrs. Sharpe discusses planned changes with Dr. Horton.

Aerospace Studies Offer Opportunities In Air Force Careers

The Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps is a growing concern on the Baptist College Campus. The full R.O.T.C. Training Program is offered at BCC. As an introduction to A.F.R.O.T.C., a special program is being offered. The student may enroll in aerospace studies without obligating himself to military duty. The special student is not required to meet grooming standards or to wear the uniform. If the student decides against continuing with R.O.T.C. Training, he may withdraw.

Captain Goodman stays abreast of latest changes in aerospace studies.

Captain Raymond Goodman, Captain Thomas Mansperger, Colonel John Hanlin, Chairman of the Department of Aerospace Studies.

Westvaco is for people interested in paper.

And people who aren't that interested in paper . . .

. . . but who are interested in pollution control and machine design and process control and fluid dynamics and polymers and lasers and specialty chemicals and nonwoven fabrics.

We have all sorts of interesting facts. So if you're approaching a graduate or undergraduate degree and you have the kind of curiosity and talent to meet the new technology head-on, let's talk it over.

From A.M. Jones

"If rationing were to occur which we don't think it will, the government statistics show they expect the shortage to be only 17 per cent for this winter. It certainly wouldn't affect people much to reduce gas consumption by less than one-fifth of normal, with just some small adjustments."

What More Can We Say?

Each person coming to Baptist College has a goal. Some of these goals are bigger and better than others, but the fact remains—we are essentially here for the same thing. Together, we can believe . . . not just in our separate goals and ambitions, but in each other, too. We are together for such a short while in our lifetime, and our hope is that we can keep believing together even after we part.
